Insane Skipper On Fish Boat

Radio Operator Appeals For Aid For Crew On Craft Off West Coast Of Mexico

LOS ANGELES (UP)—With its reportedly crazed skipper at the helm, the 85-foot Purse Seiner Sea Tern and its crew of 11 cruised in Mexican waters 100 miles south of here today with navy and coast guard authorities powerless to go to the rescue of the desperate crew.

The radio operator of the Sea Tern appealed frantically last night to the United States shipping authorities.

"Captain abusive, apparently insane. Fear death aboard soon. Will give federal department proof of illegal fishing off Peru and Ecuador."

The message, signed "Jaynes, radio operator," was received by U. S. shipping commissioner A. L. Woodruff from the Sea Tern, six weeks out of San Pedro and now off Tortuga Island in the Gulf of California. No further message was forthcoming.

An international treaty prevents the United States from sending aid to such of its ships that are in trouble more than 250 miles below the border.

The Sea Tern is skippered by Capt. Raymond Dragich, 30.

SELF PLEADS GUILTY, ASKS PROBATION FOR CHECK

Tony E. Self, himself pleaded guilty at an arraignment before Judge George H. Thompson in Superior Court Saturday morning and made application for probation in receiving sentence on a charge of issuing worthless checks.

Judge Thompson referred the matter to Probation Officer Charles Ball for investigation and report, and set Tuesday next at 3:30 in the afternoon as the time for receiving the report and passing sentence.

The information against Self was based on one check for $5 which he had issued to the Bud-Weiser Safe and District Attorney Henry S. Lyon said he also had issued a check for $5 to Mrs. W. E. Barker of Motor City. Self was arrested on complaint of the cafe management to city officers and, it was revealed by the district attorney, had made both checks good since the preliminary hearing, at which he was bound over for trial.

"Sitting Bull's" Grave Hidden By Weeds

BELLE FOURCHE, S. D. (UP)—The grave of one of the most famous Indians in history is almost never seen by visitors to the Standing Rock reservation at Fort Yates.

It is the last resting place of Sitting Bull, adroit Sioux chieftain who wiped out Gen. George A. Custer's command during the famous "last stand." Weeds cover the concrete slab and almost obscure the four iron posts marking the spot.

DAVENPORT GIVEN 3-MONTH TERM

Two Plead Guilty To Petty Theft, Get $100 Fine And Ninety Days In Jail

Sentence was passed Friday in the Superior Court on Roy Davenport, charged with grand theft, and in the Justice Court on Gwynne Fayle and Ivan White charged with petty theft, all in connection with the Black Oak highgrading investigation.

Davenport, who had pleaded guilty to a grand theft charge involving the theft of $800 in gold from the mine, had applied for probation. He appeared in court for arraignment and also for sentencing without counsel.

Facts in the case were that he had taken gold which he converted into money amounting to $2,677.50 and had returned $1,940 leaving a balance of $737.50. He also had taken highgrade ore of an estimated value of $4,000, subsequently surrendered to authorities, and had confessed his part in the case, giving officials additional information which they did not have.

The court granted the application probation upon the same conditions as imposed in other cases in which guilty pleas have been entered, five years on probation, conditioned upon three months in the county jail and restitution of the amount stolen and not returned, this to be at the rate of $25 per month and not less than that amount.

Justice of the Peace J. W. Landis convened court in Georgetown to pass sentence upon Gwynne Fayle and Ivan White, who pleaded guilty to petty theft. Their sentences were the same, a fine of $100 each and three months in the county jail.

Stop The Reorganization Bill!

(The following article is from the syndicated column, "On The Record," (Copyright, 1938, The New York Tribune, Inc.) by Dorothy Thompson, well known woman news correspondent, who was an eye witness in Europe of the collapse of democratic government, and is republished here by permission of the copyright owners.)

If the bill for the Reorganization of the Executive passes in its present form we shall have gone a long way toward establishing authoritarian government in the United States. Congress will have decreed its own partial abdication, and fixed it so that one-third of that body can permanently prevent the full Congressional power from ever being re-captured. Thus, from interpreting democracy to mean the uncontrolled will of the majority, we shall have passed to interpreting it as meaning the power of one-third of the people's representatives to block the will of the other two-thirds.

The events of the last fortnight, all over the world, have occupied the front page headlines. The repercussion from them has stupefied us all. But we have got to continue to keep our eyes open, and, for the moment, turn them again toward Washington. For this proposal to reorganize the executive branch of the government is at least as revolutionary as the Supreme Court bill, and in my opinion, even more dangerous to representative, democratic government. And unless there is a howl from the country within the next few days, this bill, which is now before the Senate, is very likely to pass.

That the whole structure of our administrative system needs overhauling and reforming is beside the point at this moment. What we really need, and need desperately, it is an extension, not a diminishing, of Congressional control and the erection of a more efficient apparatus for that purpose.

This bill moves in exactly the opposite direction. It gives the President complete power over the bureaus, the agencies and the public corporations, which, with their immense funds and their immense powers, have the capacity to make or break the economic and social structure of the country, and under this bill the President will be subject to less supervision than is given to the head of any private corporation in the United States.

He will be given the power "to transfer, regroup, co-ordinate, consolidate, reorganize or abolish" all of the administrative agencies. This might conceivably be a desirable move for greater efficiency, provided that some check, somewhere, is exercised by the representatives of the people. But the joker lies in the President's veto power. Under this law he can issue an edict with regard to all these agencies. If Congress does not disapprove within sixty days the edict becomes law. If it does disapproval is subject to Presidential veto. And it will then take a two-thirds majority of congress to override him! If Congress checks the President, the president can check Congress, and all he needs is one-third of Congress to overrule the majority.

Senator Wheeler proposed an amendment to overcome this. Under his amendment, the President would still have been given reorganization powers, but Congressional Approval would be required. This would have preserved majority rule.

It was generally believed that Senator Wheeler's amendment would pass. But the pressure exerted by the Administration and Mr. Farley upon legislators never abates for a moment, when (Turn to page four)

A splendid revival campaign is now in progress at the Full Gospel Assembly, 9 Coloma Street, under the leadership of Rev. H. H. Burgess. A fine response is being given the ministry of the evangelist, and many are enjoying the unique and pungent ministry. This is being supplemented with inspirational singing and special gospel music.

Services are being conducted each night except Saturday at 7:30 o'clock. The public is cordially invited to each service.

Spring Inventory

Before you plunge into the actual job of house cleaning, it is well to tour your house with a keen eye to the condition of your belongings and make a list of what new things you will need, that you may select them early before stocks are depleted and before hot weather arrives; and also that you may buy them to harmonize.

Will you need new slip covers, window shades, curtains, towels, sheets, rugs, dishes, utensils, brushes or garden tools? Have you a good garbage can, an incinerator in which to burn trash, a lawn mower, sprinkling hose and a kneeling cushion for weeding?

Are your closets well equipped with necessary shelves, hooks, cross-pole and extensions? Are they tidy and artistic with shoe rack, storage boxes, hat containers and cabinets? Do you have enough garment bags to put away your best dresses and have you adequate moth-proof storage places? Carry a pencil and paper in your apron pocket and make a shopping list as you go along.

Canned Goods

At this time of the year, one can get many bargains in canned foods, as the merchants wish to dispose of last year's supply before a fresh stock arrives. It is cheaper to buy in quantity than to purchase one can at a time—if you can use all to advantage.

Never open nor use a can which is bulged or swelled. That indicates spoilage. Return the can and exchange it for a good one. There is a difference of opinion about whether it is wise to let the contents of an opened can stand in the tin. Canned foods taste better if exposed to the air for an hour before using.

Almost every kind of food—except radishes and lettuce—may be bought today in cans, and as cheaply so as in the raw state. This is a saving of time and effort for the housewife, and of fuel in cooking. It is a boon to the business woman or surprised hostess who must prepare a hasty meal. She should possess a well-stocked pantry from which she can concoct a variety of dishes on short notice.

The mineral salts and most of the vitamins, color and flavor are preserved by present canning methods. The liquid from vegetables should not be discarded, but saved for soups. Botulism poisoning, which sometimes results from eating canned vegetables, is rare today, since canners know better how to can and use a higher grade of tin. To boil canned vegetables for five minutes will make them safe. Since there is such a difference in quality, quantity and method of treatment, it is wise to read carefully the labels on all cans before purchasing.

The Bolero

Bolero suits, bolero dresses and boleros as accessories are taking fashion by storm. Most of them just miss the waist line but some are longer and some so brief that they extend to merely underneath the bust, sometimes being held in by a drawstring to fit snugly.

To freshen a faded suit, there is nothing so useful as a gay bolero. It may be of figured, striped or plain silk or a cheery color, or of white lace. With a dark dress, the white lace is chic. White gloves worn with it transforms the business suit to an afternoon affair. The lace bolero may change your low cut evening gown into a dinner dress.

To complete the gaying up of your dark foundation dress, wrap a wide sash, of the same material as the bolero, about your waist, a la torador. Gold, cherry or vivid blue will enliven the dark dress. Besides the frivolous, ornamental boleros, there are long-sleeved boleros of service goods which may take the place of jackets for warmth on the street, or in the office or home. For the woman who loves to sew, this is a thing she can make at home, easily and inexpensively.

House Painting

When you paint the inside of your house, nobody but yourself and family is much concerned; but when you paint the outside, it is a matter of concern to your neighbors who must live by it, to the passers by who enjoy or suffer from it, and to your town of which your house is a part.

No one has a right to put on the outside of a building a gaudy, offensive color which will be unpleasant to look at for years. As cities have made zoning laws to regulate the desirability of buildings erected within certain areas, so they should have painting laws to prohibit any person who has no taste from painting his house an ugly color which will depreciate the value of the neighborhood.

Soft, neutral shades are better than strong, bizarre colors; and there is nothing more lovely than the white houses found all over the eastern section of our country.

Club Projects

The General Federation of Women's Clubs of the United States with other member countries, will meet May 10 to 17, in Kansas City, Missouri.

Some of the projects in which women's clubs are especially interested are: uniform marriage and divorce laws throughout various divisions of the country; forwarding of the educational idea in the use of national parks; the encouragement of reciprocal trade treaties and the sanctity of treaty obligations; the employment of economic measures against a nation which invades another nation; reduction of taxes which retard business expansion and cripple consumption; home improvement for the Indians on reservations; a program of syllabus education and facilities to combat this plague; uniform laws for the suppression of the traffic in marihuana and narcotics; and regulation of trade practices in the making and labelling of fabrics, that the purchaser may know what she is buying.

Household Hints

Garments thoroughly aired, brushed and packed away early are seldom injured by moths. On a clear windy day, hang all the contents of the clothes closet on the clothes line. Brush them and bring them in early as moths seek early the places for their night's lodging, about three o'clock is best, while the sun is still high.

Put up the window screens early to keep out the first flies and moth millers. This is a "stick in time."

Discard from closet, dresser drawer and shelf, every article which has outlived its usefulness.

Throw away the out-of-order kitchen utensils and replenish your supplies of these and of dishes.

HEALING RAY MACHINE PERFECTED BY PARIS PHYSICIAN

PARIS (UP)—An entirely new method for the application of short waves for medicinal purposes has been perfected by the eminent French physician, Dr. G. Lievre.

Director of the laboratory of radiology at the University of Paris, Dr. Lievre has invented a short wave machine which is able to direct the healing waves toward the organ being treated without affecting other parts of the body. For years savants have attempted to perfect such a machine, but it has been Dr. Lievre who has been successful and actually applied the beneficial effects of his findings.

Stop The Reorganization Bill!

ther thep ressure of holding or withdrawing support in the oncoming Congressional elections, or the pressure for holding or bestowing patronage. Senator Wheeler's amendment was defeated by four votes. Now there is nothing left except to defeat the bill as a whole and draft another and better one.

This bill must not pass. If it does, we shall have created a means whereby one man, once elected President, can rule this country with a camorra. If we create those means, sooner or later, they will be used.

Democratic government is on the defensive in every country in the world. It has been overthrown in state after state. And in not one single country has it been overthrown by violent revolution. The revolutions which have already dethroned the people have all been accomplished by breaking down the democratic process, destroying democratic checks, and thus opening the gates for the aggrandizement of executive power, first over the people's representatives, and, eventually, over the people's lives. This has been the history of every anti-democratic revolution, from Mussolini's coup d'etat in 1922, to the final collapse of every pretense of freedom, in Austria a few days ago.

If Congress doesn't stop the reorganization bill, the people must stop it, as they stopped the bill for the reorganization of the Supreme Court. By personal expression in telegrams to the representatives. Today. Now.

PARADE OF SPORTS

By HENRY McEMORE
(United Press Staff Writer)

TAMPA, Fla. (UP)—Quick squirts from the citrus chautauqua:

Paul Dean is worried less than anybody else about whether his salary arm loses that tired feeling. Paul says he has $10,000 banked away in Dallas and that he and his wife and little Deanie can subsist on a dollar a day. So that gives them a lot of days if Duffy has his figures right.—Pepper Martin is the only member of the Cardinals who operates completely outside the law. Frankie Frisch and Sam Breadon think so much of Pepper that he can do no wrong. He has his own hill-billy orchestra, he captains a broad-jumping team and generally does about as he pleases. They haven't forgot that world series where he ran Mickey Cochran of the Philadelphia Athletics crazy and won the thing practically single handed.—The boys think they detect a slight mellowing of Joe Medwick. He hasn't swung on anybody yet this spring and spends hours sitting around his room reading letters from home. There's a new member of the Medwick menace, weight eight and one-half pounds, and Joe is almost certain he isn't a left hander.

Joe Cronin of the Red Sox thinks he'll finish no worse than fourth this year, and predicts a notch higher than that if he can uncover one young pitcher capable of winning 10 games. Joe, himself, hasn't been hitting the size of his sun bonnet so far.—Dolf Camilli, new member of the Brooklyn, arrived in camp at Clearwater with a car full of children and made a hit with the assembled photographers by adopting any pose you can think of. He seemed to be exceedingly happy to be with the Dodgers, and that's news.—Larry MacPhail, who had his little differences with Judge Landis in the recent bygone at Cincinnati, knew the judge was preparing to pop down on the Cardinals days ago, and said so. Only nobody took him very seriously.—None of the clubs in Florida has lost a day from training yet, and the Cincinnati Reds already have denied four reports that they will desert Tampa for Louisiana or Texas next spring. Don't snicker, because the way these red legs are looking under fightin' Will McKechnie right now they're likely to get a sheaf of invitations next winter.

The Yankees expect to hear from Joe DiMaggio any day now. Joe McCarthy has his center field job waiting for him, whenever he makes up his mind to take those $25,000. Nobody's worried about it, any more than they're in a dither about winning another American League flag. As cocky a crew as ever you saw.—One team that's failed to attract the pennant pickers so far: Washington. Even with Zeke Bonua on first, the Senators still have too many left-handed hitters in their lineup, and their pitching staff lacks the necessary class—Casey Stengel, who's gone serious, resents a report that the Cardinals are about to trade him out of his star catcher, Al Lopez—the press box steps at Bradenton are steeper than a bill for four at Jack Dempsey's. I know, because I felt them all in the small of my back—Even the army flyers are feeling the influence of spring. Pilots of some 18 speedy little "pea shooters" belonging to Uncle Sam all wore regulation baseball caps to shield their eyes when the sun starts glinting on the metallic wings.

The army remount service has stationed the thoroughbred stallion Henry L. at Salinas.

Mrs. Bessie Willowby of Sacramento is a guest of the Hall family. Bayard Brooks was down from Kelsey on business Saturday.

Dresia Schultzy, of Oakland, is here on a vacation. He reports his cousin, Miss Daisy Schultzy, as recovered nicely from her recent prolonged illness.

Miss Helen and Alice Gallagher were at home from school duties in Sacramento over the week-end.

Fred Marker and wife spent several days last week visiting friends in San Francisco.

Alburn Veerkamp has recently been hauling lumber from the old Fox farm, near Garden Valley to use on his ranch at Missouri Flat. The lumber is from the immense old barn which the big wind left so badly twisted that it was unsafe, although it still stood upright. The barn was a land mark and was built by the late D. W. Fox in the early '60s. The frame work was firmly fastened with dowel pins and despite its age, there was a good deal of usable lumber to be had.
